Schultz Development is a custom home building firm founded on the foundation of quality, integrity, and customer satisfaction. The general contractor has completed hundreds of residential and commercial projects in the Arizona region for more than 30 years, and all of these projects were finished under the leadership of John Schultz. The Long Island-born president was raised in the Southwestern state, where he eventually planted his professional roots in 1988. The Arizona State University alum has a background in architecture and initially wanted a design-based career before deciding on a custom home building venture; thus, Schultz Development was born.

Schultz Development operates in Paradise Valley, Scottsdale, Phoenix, and Flagstaff and works on projects that require pre-construction, remodels, additions, and post-construction services. As an affiliate of the NAHB and the HBA of Central Arizona, the company has shared the same circles with some of the top industry names, both on a local and national scope. Its impressive work has been recognized by several awarding bodies, as Schultz was included in the 2019 Gold List of Luxe Magazine and the 2018 Top 10 Custom Home Builders of AZ Big Media. The firm has also been commended by former clients, who praise the builder's quality of workmanship and ability to complete projects on schedule.
